In history, the term significant individual describes a person who is great, important or worthy of attention.

A significant person in the locality is someone who made big changes in their lifetime, made people's lives better or worse and changed the way people think. Their ideas are still used today and were a very good or very bad role model.

Categories for sorting significant people include explorers, activists, monarchs, scientists and artists.

Diamond ranking is a way of organising information and data from most to least important.

Significant explorers and their voyages include Vasco de Gama's voyage to India, Christopher Columbus' voyage to the Americas, Captain James Cook's voyage to New Zealand and Australia, Roald Amundsen's voyage to the South Pole and Neil Armstrong's voyage to the Moon.

An activist is a person who feels strongly about helping people, other living things or the planet. They protest to make changes happen.

Significant activists include Martin Luther King Jr, William Wilberforce, Malala Yousafzai, Mahatma Gandhi, Rosa Parks and Emmeline Pankhurst.

Emmeline Pankhurst stood up for women's rights. She started a group to fight for votes for women. Members of the group were known as the suffragettes.

Rosa Parks was arrested when she refused to give up her seat for a white passenger on a bus in Montgomery, USA in 1955. Her arrest started the Montgomery bus boycott, which lasted a year before the segregation rules on buses were changed.
